EPA Administrator Andrew Wheeler — the 15th person in history to head the Environmental Protection Agency — visited AFPM recently to discuss with Chet Thompson the Agency's approach to regulatory reform, the Trump Administration's decision to deny critical RFS hardship protections for small refineries, and how the Agency plans to approach the delayed 2021 RFS Renewable Volume Obligation proposal and other final priorities for this term.

Print as PDF:

Topics

Biofuel & Ethanol

Tags

Renewable Identification Number (RIN)

Renewable Volume Obligations (RVO)

Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS)