WASHINGTON, D.C. — Today, American Fuel & Petrochemical Manufacturers (AFPM) President and CEO Chet Thompson issued the following statement on EPA's recission of federal tailpipe emissions standards covering model years 2027-2032:

> "We applaud EPA for reversing the prior administration's unlawful ban on most new internal combustion engine vehicles and for returning the choice of 'what to drive' back to consumers. We support ambitious tailpipe and fuel economy standards, but the standards must be lawful, feasible, and protect the affordability of cars and trucks for Americans."

Print as PDF:

Media Contact:

Ericka Perryman

media@afpm.org

202.457.0480

About AFPM:

The American Fuel & Petrochemical Manufacturers (AFPM) is the leading trade association representing the makers of the fuels that keep us moving, the petrochemicals that are the essential building blocks for modern life, and the midstream companies that get our feedstocks and products where they need to go. We make the products that make life better, safer and more sustainable — we make progress.