Today, AFPM launched an advertising campaign asking President Trump to keep his promise to protect U.S. refiners from unchecked ethanol mandates that threaten to kill our jobs. This campaign comes on the heels of increasing calls from the ethanol industry to eliminate small refinery exemptions – a critical lifeline for small refineries that experience disproportionate economic hardship from the Renewable Fuel Standard.

The campaign is running in Washington D.C., Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Print as PDF:

Topics

Fuel Policy

Biofuel & Ethanol

Workforce, Economy, & Manufacturing

Economic Benefits

Tags

Ethanol

Small Refinery Exemption (SRE)

Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS)

Jobs